CENTENNIAL ALMANAC FOR 1892.

VENUS IS THE RULING PLANET THIS YEAR.

THE YEAR IN GENERAL.—Will be rather dry, taking the whole year together; it will also be sultry and tolerably warm.

SPRING.—If the solar year continues warm and pleasant till late there will be a late Spring, generally temperate, and is favorable to all kinds of grain. When winter grain is forward and large, the sheep may be pastured on it without injury; they may also be kept on the meadows longer than other years.

SUMMER.—If the Spring rains do not continue too long, there will be a warm sultry summer, as it generally is; if, however, there is much rain in the spring, there will be a dry, hot summer, which, however, is not often the case. In this case there will be good vintage; otherwise there is danger that much hay and grain will spoil on the fields.

FALL.—This season is generally warm and pleasant, but will not last long; hence the necessity of attending early to the fall work. Winter grain should be sown early, the grape vines covered, and winter fruit secured, as generally by the end of November, Winter will set in.

WINTER.—In the commencement is tolerably dry; afterwards, especially from about the 12th of February to the beginning of Spring, quite wet, with heavy showers, which often prove injurious to persons, buildings, and cattle.

CULTIVATION OF SUMMER GRAIN.—When the Spring is wet, and there are rains almost every day, the grain should be put out as early as possible, as there will be a dry, hot Summer, without rain for several weeks.

CULTIVATION OF WINTER GRAIN.—Be the year as will, the corn and wheat will seldom produce much besides straw, unless the grain is pastured down in the Spring.

AUTUMN SEEDING.—Winter Grain should be sown in good time on account of the early winter which will follow.

FRUIT.—If it is very wet in the Spring, there will be very little of any kind of fruit. If it is about usually temperate, there will be plenty of apple, plums, nuts, cherries, pears and acorns.

Quinter's Discussion on Freemasonry.

In the biographical sketch of Eld. James Quinter, reference is made to a number of discussions held by him. Among the rest I find the following: "In September, 1869, he held a discussion in Miami County, Ohio, with Eld. McKinney, of the Christian church, upon the subject of Freemasonry. This proposition was affirmed by Bro. Quinter: 'The Principles of Freemasonry are Inconsistent with the Principles of Christian Truth.'"

It was my privilege to attend the above discussion, and I have always felt that Bro. Quinter's noble, and eminently successful effort in this discussion should have been utilized in a manner that the church in general would have received a broader benefit more directly.

The discussion was brought about something after the following manner: A number of Brethren in the vicinity where the discussion was held, had joined the Freemasons. Their number and social standing were such as to lead them to acknowledge their connection with the order openly, believing that the church would not disfellowship them. Bro. Quinter was present at the final trial, and when the church had decided to withdraw fellowship from those brethren, he was selected to announce the decision of the church and warn them of the danger of their course. In his remarks Bro. Quinter made the expression, "Freemasonry is a Christless religion." One of the disowned number published an article in a leading County paper, in which he gave prominence to the statement made by Bro. Quinter, it was thought by many, for the purpose of incensing the Masons against Bro. Quinter. Eld. McKinney, Master Mason of enviable reputation, took it up and demanded Bro. Quinter to recall his statement. Bro. Quinter said he could not do so, because he firmly believed it true. Eld. McKinney challenged Bro. Quinter to discuss it publicly, and, after vain efforts to avoid a discussion, Bro. Quinter proposed to meet him in public discussion in the same church where he had made the assertion.

Notwithstanding the farmers were exceedingly busy in wheat seeding, they did nobly their part in aiding the people from the adjacent towns to fill to overflowing the large stone church early the first day of the discussion.

One of the articles of agreement between the two disputants was, that neither could stop the discussion without the consent of the other, short of three days of two sessions each. At the close of the first day Eld. McKinney publicly stated that he was in favor of closing the discussion, alleging as a reason that it was too much to ask all these farmers to leave their work for three days to hear the debate. To this Bro. Quinter replied, that he did not ask the farmers to leave their work, and that they could remain at home so far as he was concerned, but that he had agreed to discuss this proposition with Mr. McKinney in compliance with his own challenge, and he hoped he would remain and do his best for his side of the question. Eld. McKinney said boastfully, he would remain and would follow Bro. Quinter to the end.

Next morning, when the disputants arrived, not only the farmers and their families, with their baskets, had come, but they had brought the neighbors along. Every available seat was occupied, and numbers gathered about the door and windows. Quinter continued the erection of the Temple of Masonic Religion, while Eld. McKinney did all he could to show it was a good thing but not a religion. Quinter, though pale from the wear of six weeks' hard work in preparation, grew stronger as the discussion progressed, while, to all appearances, the burden for his opponent grew heavier and the hill steeper, until the afternoon of the third day, when Bro. Quinter, having fully set up the Masonic religion by the side of the Bible religion, so graphically contrasted the two, that the Masonic structure presented such an awkward, disproportioned, lightless, Christless, and hence useless thing, that those who were not Ma-ons had no heart or spirit to recommend it, and those who were, Eld. McKinney included, were not in any way proud of it.

The discussion closed; the farmers, glad to receive so much information upon the intensely agitated subject, went to their wheat fields; and the question of Masonry in the church was effectually settled in that community, and, to the best of my knowledge, has remained settled to this day.

Bro. Quinter had a desire to give the effort of this occasion to the Brotherhood in book form, but, although several efforts were made by him and a few of his interested friends, to secure the necessary means, the work was never accomplished. The last conversation we had upon the subject occurred at the Annual Meeting at Mexico, Pa., in 1885. He still expressed a hope that it might yet be put into the hands of our Brethren. He never realized his hope; but if the manuscript can be found, I would be strongly in favor of having some brother prepare it for publication.

Rocking Babies.

I WISH there was no such a thing as a cradle, for I came near having one of my own little children rocked into eternity, and have heard, through a sensible Christian woman of experience, about three little nervous souls who were rocked into idiocy. But since there are millions of them, and people will not only use them moderately and judiciously, but thoughtlessly apply their motion to every sort of discomfort, please publish the following clipping from a newspaper:

"Recently I was in a home where there was a cradle and a crying baby. The mother picked the child up from the floor, gave it a tinner of milk, placed it in the cradle, and began rocking vigorously. I wondered how soon butter would come. Not over five minutes elapsed before butter-milk began to ooze from the poor child's mouth. Taking the child from the cradle she placed it across her knee and began patting its back, remarking that it was 'troubled with colic,' while I wondered if it was customary to work over butter so soon after churning. I say, Condemn the cradle, which is the exciting cause of so many stomach and nervous troubles which lead to worse diseases and death. Who cannot call to mind an instance where a feverish little sufferer was rocked swiftly to and fro, regardless of its throbbing, aching little head, its fluttering heart, and sick stomach?"

Startling Statistics.

FROM carefully-prepared statistics we learn that, under the influence of a secular government, our nation is being rapidly secularized. More than half the people never darken a church door. Out of 7,000,000 young men 5,000,000 never enter a church. There is an army of 600,000 drunkards in our land and 6,000,000 annually visit the saloon. In one hour in Cincinnati 252 men entered a single saloon; 236 of these were young men. In New Albany, Ind., in one hour and a half 1,109 men entered 19 of the 76 saloons of the city; 983 of these were young men. In New York 150,000 children are under the influence of the saloon. In Chicago 30,000 children go in and out of the saloon daily. The home is invaded and desolated.

In the past twenty years 328,000 divorces have been granted. Sixteen thousand of this number were granted in Pennsylvania alone, and in Illinois thirty-six thousand. A man may go from State to State, divorcing his wife and re-marrying every time he crosses a new line, until he has multiplied wives to the extent of the most prosperous polygamist, the only difference being, in Utah they have contemporaneous polygamy; in the States they have consecutive polygamy.

What We Spend our Money for.

WHILE religion is said to be, by the poet, man's chief concern," yet the facts in the case, as demonstrated by figures, do not seem to bear out that men seek first the kingdom of heaven and his righteousness." Take a look at the following table:

DRINK

TOBACCO

BREAD

$505,000,000

MEAT

$303,000,000

Sugar and Molasses

$155,000,000

Public Education

$85,000,000

Religion

After having thoroughly studied the above figures, let each one go into judgment with himself and see as to whether his contribution to religion is in proportion to the great value he claims to put upon it. Christ "had not where to lay his head,"—we spend our millions for luxuries and only our hundreds for the advancement of the Blessed Gospel. Christ gave even his life that all might live; how much are we willing to give of the perishable things of this life that others may obtain eternal life through the efforts of those whom we may send out to preach, by means of our liberality? Think of it, all ye who spend money to no purpose! Every day thousands are passing away who, by the united efforts of Christian givers, might have been brought under Gospel influences, and obtain admission to the "many mansions above."

When the last great day arrives, and we shall all stand at the judgment seat of Christ, what will be our answer when an account is required of our stewardship? Then we will wish that religion had been our "chief concern." How is it now? L. A. PLATE.

Good Rules for All.

To be a good master, be firm, be honest, be kind, be gentle, be patient.

Be in earnest, to be successful, to be useful, to be great.

To be a good servant, be humble, be diligent, be steadfast, be faithful, be true.

To gain the good will of parents, we please and praise their children.

To gain the approval of God, be good to his children.

To avoid misery, forget self.

To be happy, make others glad.

To get rich, lend to the Lord.

To be safe, follow Jesus.

DO THE BEST YOU CAN.—Ease signifies waste of power, or, at least, strength unused. Generally, he who does anything easily is doing less than his best. Not until we feel the burden of overcoming a difficulty can we know that we are doing as well as we might do. It were better to have it said that you write well than that you write easily; for though you may write comparatively well with comparative ease, it would be a greater achievement to write better with comparative difficulty.

Gems of Knowledge.

We need more of heart, and less of voice, if we would carry men with us, and take them captive against their will.

Implant in the very nature of your children, from earliest infancy, an affectionate and implicit belief in all Bible teachings.

Reader, let you and me strive to live so that it may be justly ascribed on the stone which marks our last resting-place, "He did not live in vain."

To live long, and well, and usefully, be temperate in all things, remembering that the only certain and effectual way of being temperate in reference to liquor is,—never taste a drop.

The Almighty rested one-seventh of the time of creation, commanding man to observe an equal repose; and the neglect of this injunction will always, sooner or later, bring mental, moral or physical death.

Make your calculations to be busy until you die, in doing something useful to yourselves or others; arrange it so that death shall find you with your harness on, manfully battling for humanity and the right.

From "eight to sixteen,"—in these few years are the destinies of children fixed, in forty-nine cases out of fifty,—fixed by the parent! Let every father and mother solemnly vow, "By God's help, I will fix my darling's destiny for good, by making home more attractive than the street."

The best and truest benevolence is to put a man in the way of helping himself; this gives him self-reliance, relieves him of the degradation of dependence, and makes him at once feel that he is a man,—the highest aid and the best guarantee that he will act like a man.

To give true happiness to mankind, the most efficient method, and the shortest in the long run, is to begin with our children, while they are yet infants, and patiently, sedulously, and prayerfully inculcate the sentiment that the Bible is the only safe rule of faith and practice,—the sure and only sure guide to a blessed immortality.

The poor are prone to think that in riches there is happiness. The rich know that riches do not secure happiness, and hence look to religion as the only source left for enduring pleasures, and the hopes of heaven. Hence most of the greatest of earth's rulers this day recognize the claims of Christianity as they understand it, and more or less square their lives by its precepts.

In the year 1420, when London Bridge was building, a Latin Bible cost $120, which was more than it cost to build two arches of London Bridge. At that time a laboring man earned only three cents a day, and it would have taken the earnings of fifteen years for him to have bought a Bible. This will explain, in part, how it was that Bibles were chained up in churches.

The mud of our streets owes half its parentage to the dust of the earth and half to the rains of heaven. So the vice and crime which disfigure society, appear to grow out of the alliance of extreme wealth and extreme poverty. It is chiefly in the very lowest or in the very highest stages of the social edifice that we encounter intemperance, licentiousness, gambling, and the various forms of profligacy which still curse our civilization.

A Sketch of the Life of Elder Samuel Mohler.

ELD. SAMUEL MOHLER was a member of a large family who resided in Juniata County, Pa. At the age of twenty Bro. Samuel was married to Catharine Saylor, a relative of Bro. D. P. Saylor, deceased. Soon after this union they, by mutual consent, journeyed over the mountains to one of the Antietams, near Waynesborough, where a second union was consummated by them, with the church in holy baptism. Their loyalty to both of these unions, entered into by them in early life, was characterized by many long years of untiring zeal and visible fruits of prosperity.

Shortly after this they moved to Ohio, and located near Covington. In this vicinity he lived about sixty-two years. He came to Ohio when markets were far away, and the conveniences of life were few. Many of the roads were almost impassable during portions of the year. Ohio's heavy, timbered forests stretched far and wide. He lived to see and enjoy the changes and improvements now abounding on every hand in this fertile valley.

There were born unto them thirteen children,—eight sons and five daughters. At present three of his sons are in the ministry,—Samuel S., of Warrensburgh, Mo.; Martin, of Cornelia, Mo.; and John S., of Morrill, Kans. Jacob and Levi are deacons in the Covington church. The daughters are yet all living.

Bro. Mohler was elected to the ministry in 1858, with his son Samuel, brethren Peter Nead and Abraham Flory officiating. His special line of work in the ministry was not in preaching the Word, but in watching the general interests of the church,—keeping the church in order. I here name this as being the most important line of ministerial work in the Brethren church. Our present great lack is watchful shepherds,—right doing in church business. In this line Bro. Samuel had great natural ability. He was quick to observe, but rather slow in rendering his decision; but when his decision was once rendered, his mind was difficult to change.

A brother in the West, who used to be in his employ, recently told me that Bro. Samuel controlled all his business with great order and system. One part of his help was employed in his tannery; a second on the farm; a third in the timber. The hours to commence and quit work; the hours for prayer were all understood and promptly observed.

His manner of work in the church was on the same line; everything was prompt to the hour announced. His success in raising his children, so that they all early united with the church, aided in giving his efforts force in church work. His long years in the vicinity in which he lived were years of strict honesty and unbending integrity,—with an open hand of charity to all in want. It was not an uncommon thing for him, on Lord's Day, to take up a public collection, in response to a letter received from some brother who had lost his crop by storm, or buildings by fire.

Bro. D. L. Miller remarked to me once: "If all our elders would send in their missionary collections as Bro. Samuel Mohler does, our treasury would be well filled."

His fixed rules in doing church business, and his unwillingness to change, unless there were good reasons for doing so, gave him a basis to do church work that would avoid many difficulties that so many churches and elders get into.

There was something peculiarly striking and impressive in his person and appearance, as the following circumstance will show:

In August of 1890 the Teachers' Institute of our County was held in our town. Prof. W. H. Venable, of Cincinnati, arrived in Covington on Saturday previous, as one of the lecturers. On Sunday morning he was present at our service. By invitation he took part in our Sunday-school. At the close of the service he approached Bro. Mohler and said, "You look to be a father among them here," to which Bro. Mohler replied, "Yes, I have been among them here quite a while." The Professor again added, "You remind me of one of the old patriarchs." To this Bro. Mohler simply smiled.

Elder Hiel Hamilton.

Eld. John Hershey and Bro. James Quiner made their homes in the Covington church for a number of years. While they were elders and able expounders, yet the leading care of the church remained in Bro. Mohler's hands.

Bro. Mohler was a man of remarkable vigor of body and mind. Rheumatism at times enfeebled him. On the night of April 13, in trying to walk across the room, all alone, his strength gave way, and in the fall he broke his left limb. The limb never properly healed, and, owing to natural feebleness of old age, his vigor steadily declined until, on the morning of July 26, he passed away at the age of eighty-three years, two months and seven days.

The funeral was largely attended from all parts of the County, including ministers from adjoining congregations. A number of ministering brethren took part in the services. Text, 2 Tim. 4: 6-8.

We express the sentiment of many, both in and out of the church, by clipping the following from the editorial of the Covington Gazette: "Probably no man in this community was more highly respected. As a Christian he practiced what he preached,—not only one day in the week, but every day in the year. His counsel was always wise, and it will be hard for the German Baptists to fill the place of 'Eld. Sammy,' as his people loved to call him."

I. J. ROSENBERGER.

THE motive which has prompted the preparation of this sketch is the thought that, in a few more years, all of that generation whose lives were touched and moulded by the venerable fathers, the pioneer preachers, will have passed away, and the life of unselfish devotion to principle, to hard work and hard living, incident to the building up of the church in the Indian Reserve, will be consigned to obscurity. It will also serve to emphasize the example of those veterans of the cross to the preachers of the present day (who ride in fine equipages over well-prepared highways, to substantially-built and well-filled houses of worship), and remind them of the time when our dear old brethren traveled on horseback, through cold and rain, along lonely paths through the forest, to the distant appointment in a private house, in barns, or in "God's first temple,"—the grove, to preach to small but interested audiences. While, therefore, it is due to the memory of the faithful pioneer preacher that his name and labors have a place in history, it is no less due to the cause he served so well, and to oncoming generations.

With these thoughts before us, we introduce to the reader the subject of this narrative. Hiel Hamilton was born May 4, 1811, in the State of New York. In childhood he emigrated with his parents to Fayette County, Indiana, and resided a few miles southeast of Connersville. When he was twelve years old his mother died, leaving three sons and a daughter. A year later Bro. Hiel went to live with James Taylor, in the eastern part of Union County, Indiana, where he resided until he was eighteen years old. He then went to work by the month on Four Mile Creek, where he first saw the members of the German Baptist church. The brethren, wearing long beards, plain clothing, and saluting each other was an unusual sight, and was not without its effect on young Hamilton.

Sept. 3, 1830, he was united in marriage to

A Cure for Diarrhoea and Cholera Morbus.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was used in my family and can say that it did us good in diarrhoea and cholera morbus. I do not hesitate to recommend it to all suffering from the above diseases.—Eld. H. E. Light, Mountainville, Lancaster Co., Pa.

nancy Kingery. Bro. Hamilton's parents were of English descent. The father, though respecting religion in others, never became religious himself. The mother was a deeply pious woman and a member of the Baptist church. The influence of early training, or the natural tendency of a reverential mind, induced Bro. Hamilton to seek a religious life. Accordingly, in the fall of 1831, he and his companion united with the church of the Brethren and were baptized by Eld. John Foyer.

As Bro. Hamilton had grown to manhood where school facilities were very poor, his early education had been somewhat neglected, but he now procured some books, and, being a close student, he acquired a fair education.

In the fall of 1845 he was elected to the ministry, and on the last day of August, 1846, he came to Howard County, Indiana.

Bro. Hamilton located his family on a farm about ten miles north-west of the present City of Kokomo, Ind. Howard County was then almost an unbroken wilderness, there being no public road nearer than three miles. There were, at that time, four or five families of the Brethren living in the County, who were members of the Bachelor's Run congregation. A few years later Bro. Hamilton was advanced to the second degree of the ministry. At this time the services were held in private houses, there being a rotation of nineteen places of meeting, which were held every two weeks. June 21, 1856, Bro.

Hamilton was ordained to the full ministry, as elder of the Howard congregation, Howard County, Indiana. From that time until November, 1880, the name Eld. Hamilton is indissolubly connected with the church of the Brethren in Howard, Carroll and Cass Counties.

Nov. 23, Nancy, wife of Eld. Hiel Hamilton, departed this life in the full hope of a blest immortality. Eld. Hamilton was twice married, the second time to Mary Crull, of Flora, Carroll Co., Ind., where he now resides, enjoying the respect and esteem of a large circle of acquaintances and friends, both in and out of the church. Bro. Hamilton has attended twenty-one Annual Meetings and served on the Standing Committee four times. Though bowed down with the weight of years, he is still in possession of his mental faculties, and still able to do some preaching. He has charge of a large congregation of members. ARTEMAS SMITH.

Every Tongue Shall Confess.—Rom. 14: 11.

It is not the object of the writer to follow the text literally, but to set before the reader the unintentional confession of single immersionists who have either written against trine immersion or have been making a strong effort in favor of single immersion.

1. Orchard, in his "History of Foreign Baptists," page 104 (note) says: "The word baptize is purely Greek, and the Orientals are supposed to understand its meaning. Its import can be decided by the practice of the Greeks." Now, as the Greeks baptize by trine immersion only, I offer him as an unintentional advocate of trine immersion.

2. Judson, on Baptism, page 21, says: "The Greek people certainly understand their own language better than any foreigners. We must therefore believe that their practice, whatever it be, affords a correct and indisputable interpretation of the Greek word." Hence he, like Orchard, is a witness for trine immersion.

A Good Medicine for Diarrhœa.

Last fall I was taken with a kind of summer complaint, accompanied by a wonderful diarrhœa. Soon after my wife's sister, who lives with us, was taken in the same way. We used almost everything without benefit. Then I said, Let us try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy, which we did and that cured us right away. I think much of it, as it did for me what it was recommended to.—John Hertzler, Bethel, Berks Co., Pa.

3. Dr. Graves, in his debate with Ditzler, page 18, says: "There never was any dispute in the world for fifteen centuries as to the primary meaning of baptizo, or the practice of the apostles or apostolic churches. There never was any one among the Greeks who spoke the language that Christ and the apostles spoke." As the Greeks practice trine immersion only, Dr. Graves also becomes an unintentional advocate of trine immersion.

4. (a) "Campbell on Baptism," page 200, says: "The Greek church never, to this day, has given up the primitive practice." "This, too, is an argument of more weight than even the numerical magnitude of this immense section. . . . Some seventy-five or a hundred millions of such vouchers on a mere question of fact, qualified as they were on the mere principle of human authority, would outweigh the world."

4. (b) Campbell's Catechism, under question 106, says, "How shall an illiterate man know the meaning of baptize? ANS.—By inquiring how the Greeks baptize." It is certain they understand their own language. Question 107, "And how do the Greeks baptize? ANS.—Even to this day they immerse every subject in all climates and in all countries." Hence I offer Alex. Campbell as an unintentional advocate of trine immersion.

5. Robinson, in his "Ecclesiastical Researches," page 91, says: "In determining the precise meaning of a Greek word, used to signify a Greek ceremony, what chance has a session of lexicographers against whole empires of Greeks?" Acknowledging the correctness of the above, we offer Robinson as an advocate of trine immersion.

6. John Winebrenner, in his sermon at Harrisburg, 1830, says: "Whether John the Baptist and the apostles baptized by pouring on water or by bathing, can be determined chiefly by ascertaining the meaning of the word baptize. The word is confessedly Greek. Native Greeks must understand their language better than foreigners, and they always understood it to mean dipping." Hence Winebrenner, too, confesses trine immersion by his reference to the Greeks.

7. Dr. Forney, in his work against Trine Immersion, page 361, tries to establish the fact that trine immersion cannot be traced beyond the year 200, but refers through the historians, Hagenbaugh and Thurman, to prove that the Marcionites (who were called heretics) were trine immersionists. Now, according to Dr. Cave and others, Marcion was termed an heretic as early as the year 130. Hence Dr. Forney destroys his own argument by putting trine immersion back seventy years beyond the limit where he claims it can be found.

Reader, judge for yourself of the refutation and acknowledgment. Was Marcion a heretic like Paul? See Acts 24: 14. See also verse 5.

THE following, which we clip from the Menmonite Almanac, will prove interesting to our readers. Who will look these people up and find out more about them? Their habits of honesty, morality and industry are worthy the highest commendation. In doctrine they need to be taught the way of the Lord more perfectly.

A Good Record.

I had no occasion to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in my own family, but have tried it on other parties. With one for colic, one dose cured it. With another for diarrhoea, and two doses cured him. From the satisfaction it gave in the cases tried I must say I believe it is all the manufacturers claim for it.—Rev. J. K. Brown, Woodbury, Bedford Co., Pa.

and stated to the proprietor that he wanted to purchase $100 worth of goods on credit. The man wore his hair long like a woman, and his beard reached almost to his waist. His clothes were all made at home; they were ill-fitting, and of the cheapest material, and altogether he was a strange-looking man.

"What is your name?" asked the merchant, when the man had stated his business.

"John Smith," answered the countryman.

"When can you pay for the goods?"

"I'll pay you in November, when I sell my cotton crop."

"All right, Mr. Smith, you can have the goods."

The goods were soon loaded on Smith's wagon, and he drove away without giving the merchant a note or any kind of security.

"Do you know the man?" I asked.

"Never saw him before."

"Will he pay you for those goods?"

"Certainly."

"Because he is a Shermanite. He is a member of a remarkable religious society, and if he failed to pay a debt he would be expelled from his church and driven from the community, in which he lives, in disgrace. I may not see nor hear of him again until next November, but if he is living he will come and pay me every cent he owes me. The Shermanites all wear their hair long like this one, and they are easily recognized anywhere."

In Leed's Valley, in the north-western part of this County, there is a colony of Shermanites.

There are about a hundred families, and a happier, more contented people cannot be found in the world. Their religious rites and ceremonies are peculiar. Who founded the society none of them seems to know, but it is very old, as the fathers and grandfathers of the present generation were Shermanites. They claim to follow the teachings of the New Testament in spirit and letter, and they believe that only Shermanites will enter the kingdom of heaven. They have churches and preachers, and worship in a manner similar to many other religious sects. One of their peculiar rites is the washing of feet. A foot-washing service is held once every month, at which the preacher washes the feet of every member of the church. The members then in turn wash the feet of the preacher and of each other. The service usually lasts all day, being interspersed with singing and praying.

Members of all other religious denominations they regard as heathen, and send missionaries among them instead of sending them to foreign lands. Shermanites never cut their hair or beard, claiming in this to follow the example of Christ. In every home may be found ancient wood cuts, representing Christ and his apostles as wearing long hair and beard. A Shermanite who falls from grace is lost forever, and he must always live up to certain moral and business rules, which are very rigid. To pay all debts is a part of their religion; no man can be saved, they say, who does not pay his neighbor what he owes him. They never charge one another interest on a loan, and no written acknowledgment of a debt is ever given. The word of a Shermanite is his bond, and it becomes a sacred duty for him to fulfill every promise made. They are an industrious people; industry is a part of their creed. The Shermanites are all small farmers, but most of them own their farm and some stock. Many of them are compelled to purchase a few supplies in this city every summer, for which they are unable to pay cash. Where their peculiar religion is known they have no trouble in obtaining all the credit they want. They give no notes or security of any kind, but merchants who have done business with them for years have never lost a dollar due from a Shermanite customer. Their preachers accept no pay for preaching the Gospel, working on their farms during the week as hard as any member of the church. Divorce is something unknown among these people and the women are all virtuous. Drunkenness is another vice unknown among these people, as they follow to the letter the advice of the apostle, who said, "Be temperate in all things." Their homes are models of neatness and comfort, and the stranger is always welcome within their gates. It would be almost an insult to tender them payment for food, lodging, or any other favor shown a stranger. The Shermanites make few converts to their peculiar religion, but they lose no members and seem happy and contented by holding their own.

One remarkable thing about them is that they will have nothing to do with courts and lawyers. A lawsuit in which a Shermanite was plaintiff cannot be found on the court records of this country. They never seek legal advice unless it is actually necessary. All their differences are settled by arbitration, mutual friends being the arbitrators, and the civil courts are never under any circumstances resorted to. They seek in every way possible to avoid jury duty or being summoned as witnesses in any cases. They take no part in politics, and a Shermanite was never known to hold an office of any kind. Some of them vote at every election, but they have no campaign clubs in their community, and every man is allowed to vote as he pleases. Many of them never vote at all.

The first settlers of this Shermanite colony came to Alabama from South Carolina and Georgia about forty-five years ago. The oldest of them say their ancestors came originally from New England, but they are unable to say who was the founder of their society.

Miscellaneous Hints for the Household.

More people die prematurely from want of care, in any given year, than perish by plague, famine, pestilence and war.

In washing either potatoes or fowls when preparing to cook them, use a coarse, rough cloth with plenty of water. The cloth does the work quicker, easier and better than the bare hands.

To clean bottles, put in some coarse sand and fine gravel, add a little clear water, and shake well (never use shot for this purpose). Rinse well, and they will be cleaner and brighter than any amount of soap, lye or soda, and hot water can make them.

* * *

EARACHE.—Take a bit of cotton-batting, put upon it a pinch of black pepper, gather it up and tie it, dip it in sweet oil, and insert it in the ear. Put a flannel bandage over the head to keep it warm. It will give immediate relief.

COLD.—Any kind of a bath, or any other process that will produce a general perspiration, and thus bring about a reaction, will cure a cold. Simply inhaling fresh air largely, by deep inspirations, is sufficient to nip an incipient cold in the bud.

Never rock a nervous or feverish babe; let it lie on a comfortable bed, but not on feathers. Never grow impatient with a babe, or a very nervous or sensitive or insane person. Patience, gentleness, quiet and rest are the tonics needed for tired, worried or diseased brains.

FOUR things come not back; the spoken word, the sped arrow, the past life, and neglected opportunity.

THE FAHRNEY HAMMOCK CART

MANUFACTURED BY

Polo Buggy and Cart Co.,
POLO, - - ILLINOIS.

PATENTED JUNE 30, 1891.

Every Cart is sold with a guarantee to ride as easy as a buggy, or no sale. Over 1,000 were sold on these terms and not one returned. Four styles of these Carts are built, ranging in price to suit every one. The riding qualities are the same on all of them. Inquire of your dealers for the Fahrney Hammock Carts. If they do not keep them, and will not order one for you, write direct to us for full description and prices. In order to overcome the high local freights, we will establish a branch house in each locality where enough Carts can be sold to enable us to ship in car-load lots. By our increased facilities we hope to be able to meet the fast-growing demands for the Fahrney Hammock Carts this year, and be able to make punctual shipments.

Do not allow your dealers to persuade you that some other kind of cart is just as good. Many claim to get rid of horse motion but do not do it. Ask them for the same guarantee that we give on our Carts. Each of our Carts may be returned if it does not ride as easy as a buggy. We guarantee all of our Carts for one year. Give them a trial and you will be pleased.

I do not put this remedy in drug-stores, but mail it direct to my customers, or sell through local agents. Address, E. J. WORST, Ashland, Ohio.

The Gospel Messenger, A Religious Weekly, - - Published at $1.50 per Annum,

Is the recognized organ of the German Baptist or Brethren church, and advocates the form of doctrine taught in the New Testament and pleads for a return to apostolic and primitive Christianity.

It recognizes the New Testament as the only infallible rule of faith and practice, and maintains that Faith toward God, Repentance from dead works, Regeneration of the heart and mind, baptism by Trine Immersion for remission of sins unto the reception of the Holy Ghost by the laying on of hands, are the means of adoption into the household of God,—the church militant.

It also maintains that Feet-washing, as taught in John 13, both by example and command of Jesus, should be observed in the church.

That the Lord's Supper, instituted by Christ and as universally observed by the apostles and the early Christians, is a full meal, and, in connection with the Communion, should be taken in the evening or after the close of the day.

That the Salutation of the Holy Kiss, or Kiss of Charity, is binding upon the followers of Christ.

That War and Retaliation are contrary to the spirit and self-denying principles of the religion of Christ.

That the principle of Plain Dressing and of Non-Conformity to the world, as taught in the New Testament, should be observed by the followers of Christ.

That the Scriptural duty of Anointing the Sick with Oil, in the Name of the Lord, James 5: 14, is binding upon all Christians.

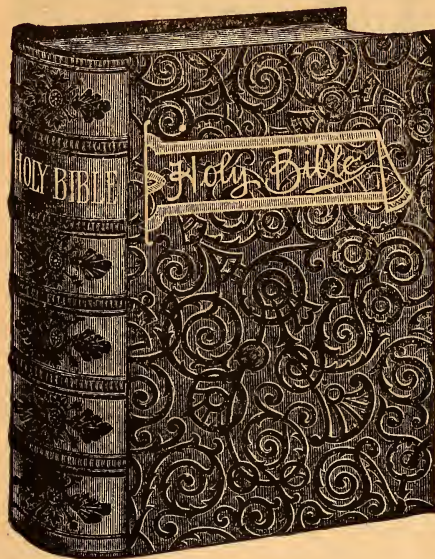

It also advocates the church's duty to support Missionary and Tract Work, thus giving to the Lord for the spread of the Gospel and for the conversion of sinners.

In short, it is a vindicator of all that Christ and the apostles have enjoined upon us, and aims, amid the conflicting theories and discords of modern Christendom, to point out ground that all must concede to be infallibly safe.

How to Prevent Croup.

We want every mother to know that croup can be prevented. True croup never appears without a warning. The first symptom is hoarseness; then the child appears to have taken cold or a cold may have accompanied the hoarseness from the start. After that a peculiar rough cough is developed, which is followed by the croup. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse; a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will prevent the attack. Even after the rough cough has appeared, the disease may be prevented by using this remedy as directed. For sale at 50 cents a bottle by druggists and medicine dealers generally. Manufactured only by Chamberlain & Co., Des Moines, Iowa.

A BALM To Soothe the Sorrows of MOTHERHOOD!

This Balm is known as Dr. Wrightsman's Sovereign Balm of Life, which, if used during gestation, will relieve all distress in this period, and so assist nature that the time in parturition is often reduced to a half hour. It is also an excellent remedy for all female troubles. An honest preparation—a boon to woman. Always write for circulars and get particulars before ordering.

D. B. Senger & Co., Box 400, Franklin Grove, Ill.

A FEW TESTIMONIALS.

Dinkel Bros., Druggists of Bridgewater, Va., who have been selling the Sovereign Balm of Life for about eight years, write us, under date of Aug. 21, 1891, as follows: "We find it to be one of the best sellers on the market, for the reason that it does everything that is claimed for it by its manufacturers and proprietors. We therefore take great pleasure in promoting the interests on goods of such honest merit."

KIMBOLTON, OHIO, July 11, 1891.

Dear Sirs:—Sovereign Balm of Life gives good satisfaction. Have to keep it in stock all the time. Some cannot say too much for it.

J. L. DAVIS, Druggist.
